

The Missing Brothers of Sommie and Dougie Morkel

It started with an email from Cathy and Jenny Morkel. They were unable to link their great grandfather with his brothers in P.W. Morkel's Genealogy (1) of the family. Their father remembered his grandfather's brothers well and, in addition to Sommie (William Somerset) and Dougie (Douglas Francis Theodore), both rugby Springboks, and Steve (Stephanus Kimberley) mentioned in the Genealogy, there were also Harry, and Gerrit. They referred to a rugby website (2) that mentioned Harry Morkel, a champion hurdler as an older brother of Sommie.

A quick Google search produced memoirs (3) by a British soldier who knew the family and who mentioned Harry, Sommie, Gerrit, Steven and Dougie. So it appears that the Genealogy, compiled in the 1950s by Franklin Boonzaaier missed some of Sommie and Dougie's brothers.

Lourens Morkel made contact at the time and his father was William Somerset, from the same line of the family. Gerrit Morkel, brother of Lourens then produced a family tree back to the parents of Sommie and Dougie which cleared the mystery (4). The children of Willem Morkel and Johanna Helena Maritz were Theunisina Christina, Hendrik Johannes (Harry), Gerhardus Maritz (Gerrit), William Somerset (Sommie), Stephanus Kimberley, Douglas Francis Theodore (Dougie) and John Vernon Bester. Three of the brothers (Harry, Gerrit and John Vernon) are not listed in the Genealogy.

The search produced some interesting history of the family's involvement with early Johannesburg and it seemed appropriate to put the strands together and also to trace the family line back to stamouer Philip Morkel.

The many Willems'

The family line is shown in detail in the Appendix and schematically below. To tell the several Willem generations apart, I am listing them as Willem I, II, III and IV. The family line is as follows:

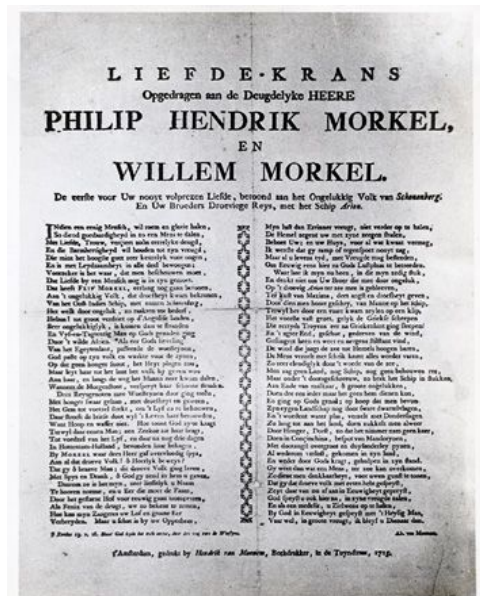

- 1st gen: Philip MORKEL (1677 - 1735) x Catharina PASMEN
- 2nd gen: Willem (I) MORKEL (1718 - 1788) x H.C. MALAN
- 3rd gen: Willem (II) MORKEL (1761 - 1821) x A.M. WIJM
- 4th gen: Willem (III) MORKEL (1785 - 1839) x E.L. LOUW
- 5th gen: Hendrik Johannes MORKEL (1810 - 1859) x G.A. LOUW
- 6th gen: Willem (IV) MORKEL (1845 - 1914) x Johanna Helena MARITZ
- 7th gen: Sommie, Dougie, brothers and sister.

Family Lines for Sommie, Dougie and Siblings.

The early years in Hottentots Holland

Stamouer Philip MORKEL from Hamburg Germany arrived at the Cape in 1708. He was a “Konstabel” or artilleryist on the VOC (Dutch East India Company) ship Oosterstein. He married Maria BIEBOUW and they had one daughter, Elizabeth. Elizabeth married Jan LOUW and her granddaughter, Esther Elizabeth LOUW married 4th generation Willem MORKEL (our Willem III). Maria BIEBOUW died in 1713 and in that year Philip married again, with Catharina PASMEN. Catharina inherited a farm Onverwacht (later The Bush and then Die Bos) in Hottentots Holland from her sister Margaretha PASMEN who, with her husband Claas ELBERTSZ died in the small pox epidemic of that year.

The stories of the first three generations are told in some detail on our webpage <http://diebos.morkel.net> and summarised here. For example a window pane from the second Stellenbosch church dated 1723 commemorating Philip MORKEL as heemraad has survived. In 1722 the ship Schonenberg went ashore near Cape Algulhas and about 80 shipwrecked sailors were hosted by Philip on his farm. An epic poem Liefdekrans expressing gratitude for his hospitality was printed in Amsterdam in 1725 and still hangs at the family farm Die Bos. An attempt to trace Philip (and his brother Willem who also came to the Cape but remained unmarried) was unsuccessful but yielded interesting information about the terrible state of Germany at the time, after the Thirty Year war of 1618 to 1648 and its aftermath – read the story on the webpage.

Second generation Willem MORKEL 1718 – 1788 (our Willem I) inherited well and prospered during good economic times at the Cape. When he died in 1788 his estate listed 7 farms (four were along the Rivieronderend) and 113 slaves. Willem had four sons, Philip Hendrik who farmed at Rome, hived off from Onverwacht, Willem (our Willem II) who inherited Voorburg and Mostertsbaai Strand, Daniel who inherited the family farm Onverwacht, and Hercules who was 15 at the time of his father's death. Hercules later farmed at Welgelegen who has since become the golf estate Erin Vale. Willem's only daughter, Helena Catharina married Philip Albertus MIJBURGH, of the well known farm Meerlust.

Third generation Willem MORKEL 1785 – 1821 (our Willem II) farmed at Voorburg and also owned the adjoining property Mostertsbaai Strand. On the latter property Willem and his brother Daniel operated a fishery. It was previously known as Vlootjesbaai (Fleabay), acquired as a loan farm by David du Buisson in 1714. Philip MORKEL's widow, Catharina PASMEN acquired the farm in 1748. Over the years a seaside village developed and consumed the farm. Those visiting for the summer holidays opened their cottages built in the sand and fleas had a feast. Later the town was named Somerset Strand and finally simply Strand.

Willem and his brothers were members of the Burgerwag, a citizens militia, first under the VOC in the last days up to 1795 and later under General Janssens of the Batavian Republic in 1803 to 1806. They lived through the two British occupations of 1795 and 1806. Willem held the senior rank of ritmeester and was awarded a silver cup by General Janssens for bravery against a Hottentot uprising lead by Oerson Afrikaner. Aide-de-camp Paravincini di Cappelli describes a lavish dinner (fish from the Bay) and comfortable beds provided by Willem at Voorburg when the general and his party stayed overnight on their way to the Overberg interior. In 1819 Willem and his brothers (and neighbour M. W. THEUNISSEN of Vergelegen) as Voorstanders (leaders) petitioned the Governor Lord Charles Somerset to establish a new town and church, called Somerset West. The Voorstanders also guaranteed the cost of an organ for the church. Voorburg lay between Onverwacht and Somerset West and the home and farmyard bordered the Lourens river, close to where the historic bridge (second oldest in South Africa) still stands. Later owners in the 1840s renamed the farm Bridgewater and the name is preserved in that part of Somerset West.

Some of the old Morkel farms. Stamouer Philip's farm Onverwacht was later called Die Bos. Willem II and III's farms were Voorburg and Mostertsbaai Strand (presently The Strand). Altena was a late 19th century subdivision. The farms (except Morgenster) have been consumed by urban sprawl.

The MORKEL brothers were substantial wine farmers – in 1825 they had

Daniel Johannes Sr. of Onverwacht – 100,000 vines
Daniel Johannes, (his son) of Rome – 60,000 vines
Philip Hendrik Sr. of Morgenster - 150,000 vines
Willem of Voorburg and Mostertsbaai Strand – 80,000 vines.

The farms were labour intensive and in 1815 slave numbers were (9):

Vergelegen: M.W. Theunissen & Sara C. Malan – 60 slaves
Onverwacht: D.J. Morkel & Sophia A. Brink – 55 slaves
Voorburg: Willem Morkel & Anna M. Wium, - 32 slaves
Morgenster: P.H. Morkel & Johanna P. Malan – 30 slaves
Welgelegen: Widow Hercules Morkel – 28 slaves

Fourth generation Willem MORKEL 1785 – 1839 (our Willem III) married Esther Leonora LOUW, the granddaughter of Elizabeth MORKEL, daughter of stamouer Philip MORKEL. Esther Leonora was a younger sister of Maria Dorothea LOUW who was married to Willem's uncle, Daniel Johannes MORKEL at the neighbouring farm Onverwacht. The family Genealogy lists that most of their children were baptized in the Paarl and for two are shown born at Keulenberg, Agter Paarl – presumably where they farmed at that time. His wife, Esther Leonora came from the Paarl, where her father Hendrik LOUW farmed and speculated with property. Willem III inherited Voorburg and Mostertsbaai Strand when his father died in 1821, and moved back there. Subsequent children (1822 on) were baptized in Somerset West.

Fifth generation Hendrik Johannes MORKEL 1810 - 1859 was the second son of 14 children, of whom 10 reached adulthood. He married Geertruida Anna LOUW and they lived in Somerset West. I was unable to trace where Geertuida Anna fitted in the LOUW family. They had 12 children, of whom 8 reached adulthood. I have no further information about the family.

Two members of the sixth generation are of interest to us. The fourth son, Hendrik Johannes MORKEL 1842 – 1902 (lets call him HJ) and Willem (alias Japie) MORKEL 1845 - ? (our Willem IV). The Cape was going through tough economic times during the second half of the 19th century (a combination of vineyard pests such as Phylloxera and England abolishing tariffs against French wines made for a collapse of wine exports). The interior beckoned – diamonds were discovered at Kimberley and later gold at the Witwatersrand.

Kimberley and Johannesburg

Sixth generation Willem 1845 - ? (our Willem IV) was the sixth child and married Johanna Helena MARITZ. He became a butcher by trade and moved to Kimberley where their 7 children were born, Theunisina, Harry (Hendrik Johannes), Gerrit Maritz, Sommie (William Somerset), Steve (Stephanus Kimberley), Dougie (Douglas Francis Theodore) and John Vernon Bester. Three sons, Harry, Gerrit and John are missing from the family Genealogy and this is where our interest in this part of the family began. Gerrit Morkel (4) kindly provided the missing names, which were also described in the Google references.

At some time they moved to Johannesburg where Willem had a butchery. The latter part of the century were turbulent times on the goldfields. It started with a stockmarket bubble and subsequent collapse based on the Witwatersrand gold mines (5). By 1890 Johannesburg was flourishing as the world's largest gold producer with associated euphoria and speculation. Fraudulent floats of new mining companies were common and regulatory controls by Government were almost non-existent. "Every speculator could float a dunghill and call it a mining company". Banks lent money with abandon and greed took over. People borrowed heavily to buy shares on the expectation of making a killing, and the banks obliged. By 1890, six years after the first discovery of gold in the area, there were already hundreds of gold mining companies established in Johannesburg. Reality came when even those mines, which were actually producing gold, suddenly hit a major problem. As they dug deeper the ore became refractory pyritic. The gold was there but it could not be extracted. (A few years later the problem was solved using the cyanide extraction process). The news spread fast and with mass hysteria raging, everyone tried to sell their shares, but no one was buying. People lost their life's savings and many carried large debts they could not repay. Banks throughout the country, including in the far away Cape Colony, were in serious trouble. The Bank of Cape of Good Hope, Paarl Bank and Union Bank were liquidated in one year.

In an account by a British Soldier (3), Willem's business had collapsed and his sons were fighting for the Boers in the Anglo Boer war that was raging at the time. These were tough times.

1 July 1901.

(Thursday) .. I met Harry Morkel, eldest son of the butcher. His brother Maritz – a good name – having I understand, broken his neutrality promise and again gone on commando (joined the Boer forces again against the British) has been expelled to Ladysmith – a desirable undesirable I call him, for I knew him, and liked him. Harry himself has been at the front with the third son Steve; these two have accepted the situation and settled down. "Baby" Morkel, that very short fat sausage (Douglas by Christian name) has grown much and is quite different to look at. Old father Morkel, his butcher shops in Marshall Square and Doornfontein both closed, is in low water – lives on some small rents. There is also another son "Sonny" Morkel (Sommie) who is a prisoner of war in Ceylon, I think (he was sent to St Helena). This family is a fair sample of the present state of the Dutch -- There is a small Dutch boy working here, Frank Coetzee by name, who tells me his mother and grandfather are at the Boer camp at the racecourse. (The Turffontein concentration camp was established on the race course, known by that name). He, besides his wages here, gets 1/- (one shilling) per week from the relief fund, and so manages to hold his body and soul together.

There were several Morkels in Johannesburg at the time (1). It is probable that Willem IV came to Johannesburg because his older brother Hendrik Johannes (HJ) 1842 – 1902 was already established as an auctioneer and property developer. HJ and his wife, Wilhelmina Jacoba MOLL spent some time in Kroonstad, O.F.S. where his 7 children were born between 1864 and 1874.

P.W. MOR KEL's Family history p 45 ff tells more about HJ and Willem IV:

When the first gold was discovered on the Witwatersrand and Ferreira's Camp sprang into being, the family was well to the fore. Hendrik Johannes MOR KEL (1842-1902) (HJ) and about 100 other diggers presented the original petition dated 1 November 1886 to the Kruger Government protesting against the proposal to issue "preferential rights to stands" limited to five years. According to Morkel's petition such a short period "would be very harmful and would tend to stultify progress, for without reasonable security of tenure no buildings of any pretensions will be put up".
..... Mainly as a result of his energy and thoughtfulness on this occasion MOR KEL became a very popular figure in the camp. In November 1886 he was elected member of the Witwatersrand Goldfields Committee, obtaining 74 votes. This was the third highest number polled among nine successful candidates..... MOR KEL was chosen to represent claim holders on the farm Turffontein. MOR KEL was summoned to appear before Landdrost Carl von Brandis on November 17 and was sworn in

Despite these political and judicial preoccupations, H.J. MOR KEL found time that same eventful November 1886 to become Chairman of the first Cricket Club on the Goldfields.

The firm Morkel and du Toit, Commission Agents, was in business in October 1886. In that capacity they kept a list of all standholders in the original Ferreiras Camp, a special book, but unfortunately this has never again been found. On January 16, 1887, Morkel and du Toit officiated as auctioneers at a very important early sales of stands. The Paarl Syndicate (so-called after the town where it had been formed) had caused the township Paarl's Hoop to be laid out, on the famous farm Langlaagte.

Morkel and du Toit continued in business for years, but du Toit dropped out, though his name remained on the outside of the buildings in Rissik Street, South. Here we find H.J. MORKEL (1842-1902_ in 1891 as an "Auctioneer, Forwarding and General Agent". Incidentally he continued to live long after at Langlaagte. The name of his business place was changed to Morkel's Buildings in 1893, and in 1894 he moved to Mendelsohn's Buildings at 10 Joubert Street, where he remained till the time of the Boer War. He was also a Government Appraiser.

Page 46: Right at the start of the goldfields there appears another celebrated old-timer, in the person of S. MORKEL, the first butcher in Ferreira's Camp. (I suspect this was our WillemIV) His shop was at the corner of Bree Street East and Marshall Square, and his home in Davies Street Doornfontein, after that suburb was opened. Morkel's butchery was still in operation till the end of the century at the original address. The old gentleman himself gave up his house in Doornfontein in the nineties and went to Bok Street in Hospital Hill. He was appointed Justice of the Peace about 1893.

Old Hendrik Johannes MORKEL (1842-1902) (our HJ) the auctioneer and appraiser, had taken in a partner W.J. MORKEL, who lived at Ophir Street, Ophirton. There was now a third Justice of Peace in Johannesburg, namely J. MORKEL of corner of Peterson and Hof Streets. The fact that there was a personal link between Willem MORKEL (1845 - ?) (our Willem IV) (the butcher), J MORKEL, the Justice of Peace, W.J. MORKEL and H.J.MORKEL (1842 - 1902) is evidenced by their use of the same Post Office Box, number 45, over the years.

The celebrated Hendrik Johannes MORKEL passed away in 1902. He had been a director of the early Banket Junction Main Reef GMC and of Langlaagte Prospecting and GMC Ltd.

William Somerset (Sommie) MORKEL

Page 47 ff: Several Morkels attained distinction during the Boer War. On the Boer side William Somerset MORKEL (1879 - ?) fought under General Ben Viljoen at the siege of Ladysmith and later at Colenso under General Louis Botha. He accompanied General de la Rey on his trek from Ladysmith to Paardeberg, but was taken prisoner by the British at Abrahams Kraal on March 10, 1900. The remaining two years and a half of the war was spent in a prison camp on St Helena.

By occupation William Somerset MORKEL was a mining contractor. He was the son of William MORKEL (our Willem IV) and born in Kimberley on September 26, 1879.

After going to school in Johannesburg he took up mining, but his fame rested on his prowess at rugby. His big achievements began in 1898, when, despite his 19 years he was already playing first team class. In 1903, just back as P.O.W. he played for Transvaal against the visiting team from Britain. The following year he was in the Currie Cup team for Transvaal and he was captain of the Mines team. He was an inevitable choice for the original Springbok team of 1906 and covered himself with glory on that famous tour overseas.

Jenny and Cathy also referred to a rugby museum website from the UK <http://www.rugbyrelics.com/Museum/countries/SA/tr-1906.htm> where, in the biography of Sommie, an older brother Harry, the hurdler is mentioned.

He (Sommie) is a fine all round-athlete, being a fine jumper and runner and his brother Harry, the old South African champion, said that another champion hurdler was lost in WS Morkel. (Text from "The Springbokken Tour in Great Britain" by E.J.L. Plateneur, published 1907)

The history of the Johannesburg Wanderer's Club tells of Harry MORKEL (6). In 1898:

Similarly honoured were Harry MORKEL (hurdler) who were sent to England for championship meetings and, if they failed to do well (they had insufficient time to acclimatize themselves) nonetheless earned Springbok colours for the Club.

There is also a photo of Harry Morkel and the two others who were sent to England in the report. (I was unable to copy it).

Sommie and Dougie MORKEL plus Paddy Carolin Source: Greyvenstein (7, p44)

Dougie MORKEL was the other rugby Springbok in the family. As a place and drop kicker of sheer length and accuracy, Douglas Morkel has probably never been equalled in the history of the game. In 1910 he inspired a member of Dr Smythe's team to write: "Douglas Morkel had our hearts in our mouths in any match he played against us; for he wore red stockings, and a penalty might produce the uncanny spectacle of Douglas sniping at our posts from his own twenty-five yard line". Douglas Morkel is listed in the Guinness Book of Records with the longest kick in rugby. (7)

One that will always be remembered is his penalty goal for the 1912 Springboks against France. The match was really a picnic, for the French backs were very weak. During the game the referee gave a wrong decision, and, not wishing to benefit from a mistake, Billy Millar, the Springbok captain threw the ball to Douglas Morkel and told him to boot the ball back to the full-back. The infringement took place 10 yards inside the Springboks half. Douglas laughed and said: "Billy, I'm going to take a pot shot at goal". The French full-back was standing somewhere on the 25 yard line when Douglas's foot connected with the ball. With a perfect trajectory it soared into the air and the French full-back stood fascinated for a moment and then turned to run behind the goalposts. He had got there when the ball crossed the bar and with mouth wide open he started to clap. And so did the crowd for a long time. One Frenchman ran out of the crowd and kissed Morkel. Billy Millar afterwards said it was the most wonderful dropped goal he had ever seen.

Douglas Francis Theodore (Dougie)MORKEL Source: Greyvenstein (7, p52)

During the visit of Dr.Smythe's team in 1910 Douglas kicked a ball into the trees which used to be behind the old Malay stand at Newlands. The Governor-General and party were seated near the touch-line and Douglas had to ask them to move so that he could get more room for his run. He drop-kicked and the ball went between the posts and far beyond the trees. (8)

The Family beyond Sommie and Dougie

Many thanks to Jenny and Cathy, and Lourens and Gerrit, who provided information and encouragement. I have constructed the family lines as best I could using the information in P.W. Morkel's Genealogy, our story and their emails. Please comment, correct and provide more information.
